Although gripped by the hand of the law, (circled) 17-year-old Frances Frada of Cambridge smiled today as a Boston Evening American photographer took her picture. She was being led into Newton court, where she was held in $50,000 cash bail in connection with the killing of one policeman and wounding of another, who is dying.

'Pickup Girl's' Own Story

Frances W. Frada, 17-year-old Cambridge girl, today told the Boston Evening American her own story of the death ride which ended in the slaying of one Newton policeman and wounding of another.

By FRANCES W. FRADA
"I had nothing to do with the shooting of those policemen."

"I didn't do a thing to help ride the 'GARBETT SPECIAL' to BARRAGANSETT PARK."

"It all started when I picked up a ride with a man and brought him home to meet my mother. It was hot and I told him that I was tired and I wanted to go for a ride."

"He took me in his car and brought me a drink in a Newton cafe."
"When we left the cafe, I asked him if I could drive and he said to me, 'Sure, take the wheel.'"
"I did, and somewhere in Newton I almost hit a cruising police car."

"When the officers stopped us, one of them came over to the side of the car and asked the man for his license and registration. He didn't have them, but he

CROWD JAMS COURT; GIRL, 'COOL,' SMILES

While one Newton policeman lay dead and another dying, a pretty 17-year-old Cambridge girl, perfectly cool and protesting her innocence, was held today in $50,000 bail, double surety, in connection with the killing.

Frances Frada, smartly dressed in blue and white and carrying a white handbag, stood in a jammed courtroom in Newton and heard herself accused as an alleged accessory and held at a material witness.

With double surety on the accessory charge, and $50,000 more personal recognizance on the material witness citation, the sum mounted to $150,000, but $50,000 cash bail would free her.

At the same time as the girl was arraigned, the body of Patrolman Henry C. Bell, 27, was being carried into his former home on Charlesbank road, Newton.

And in another home, four little children were praying for the recovery of their father, Patrolman Lawrence Murphy, 31, whose life was hanging by a thread.

The gunman who killed Bell, and wounded Murphy, after having "picked up" the Cambridge girl for a ride, was identified by her from a rogues' gallery photograph and is being sought throughout the entire east.

Police know he is wanted, perhaps badly. They believe he is responsible for some of the speediest of the speediest.

quicker holding of recent weeks. They allege he was formerly a singer and number pool racketeer, well known in the North End.

He killed Bell early Sunday morning, after Bell had stopped him and the girl. Then he wounded Murphy, who gave chase.

First fatal shooting of a policeman in the history of Newton, the case spurred police to activity as they have not been engaged since the murderings of the Miller-Peter motorcycle gang.

Mayor Edwin V. Childs of Newton sent a recommendation to the board of selectmen for a reward of $1000 for information leading to the capture of the slayer or of Patrimoine Bell.

The board will take it up at a meeting this evening.

GIRL ENTERS COURT

After 24 hours of intermittent questioning, Frances Prada, 17, took the unspectacular calm and cool, was led in the center of the stage in Newton district court, while hundreds murmured for a glimpse of her.

Accused by Police Captain Nicholas Venetian and Mrs. Grace Carey, police matron, who entered the courtroom to find all the seats filled except the front row, and an overflow standing on all sides.

Outside the courtroom the crowd was jammed along the sidewalk, many standing on the roof of the court building.

Stated to the front row, she was charged with the murder of Patrolman Bell and the shooting of Patrolman Murphy.

SCHARTON HIR COUSIN

Attorney William B. Scharton announced to defend her. Scharton was defense counsel for the father in the notorious Miller-Peter trial in Dedham and had appeared in many other capital cases.

He was not permitted to talk with the girl until after the arraignment.

After a few minutes, the girl was brought back to the courtroom, and the judge ordered the case to be continued.

The girl was officially charged with the murder of Patrolman Bell and the shooting of Patrolman Murphy.

$50,000 CASH BAIL

The court set $50,000 bail on the case, but required that if the girl was to be released, she must have $50,000 in cash.

The girl was released on bail.

COUNSEL TO SEEK WRIT

After spending a half an hour with the girl, Scharton said in answer to questions of a reporter:

"I talked with her alone and she doesn't know anything about it. She said she wasn't even present at the shooting and she denied pulling the officer's gun out."

Picture Story in Shooting of Two Newton Policemen

1—Patrolman Henry Bell, 27, of Newton, who died from effects of gunman's bullets, the slayer firing two bullets into his body, after kidnapping him and forcing him to drive the gunman's car from Chapel and Watertown streets, Newton, to Watertown street, Watertown.

2—Here, a short distance from the corner off Watertown street, Newton, was where Officers Henry Bell and William Whalen halted a car which was being erratically driven by a girl. The auto narrowly missed police cruising car and the two policemen stopped the driver to question her. Note police box on building at corner, from which Patrolman Whalen phoned for Murphy.

4—This is the auto which was driven by the girl, and which was later abandoned. Patrolman Bell was forced by the gunman to drive the auto from Newton to Watertown. There in Watertown street Motorcycle Officer Murphy trailing them, was shot.

5—This is the house in front of which Officers Bell and Whalen stopped the car which was being driven by a girl, later identified as Frances Frada of Cambridge. Only a short distance away from this point Officer Murphy caught up with the car when the killing of Bell and the wounding of Murphy took place.

2—Police box from which Officer William Whalen telephoned Newton police headquarters for Motorcycle Officer Lawrence Murphy, who was to be shot down by unidentified gunman.

6—Frances Frada, 17, of Watson street, Cambridge, who was with the slayer before he killed Patrolman Bell and wounded Officer Lawrence Murphy. She is charged with being an accessory before and after the felony.

8—Staggering to the parked car of Mrs. Catherine Piccola, in which the woman sat, the gunman forced her out and took the wheel, hurtling from the vicinity of the Piccola drug store, shown here.

9—Bloodstained and abandoned, Mrs. Piccola's car was later found in front of 26 Wadsworth street, Allston, by Boston policemen, who were on another investigation.

10—This is Motorcycle Patrolman Lawrence Murphy, who came to the aid of the kidnapped Officer Bell, and who was shot and critically wounded by the murderous gunman. Murphy was shot in the abdomen, hit fired six bullets at the slayer as he lay groaning on the ground.

Mother Stands By Frada Girl

"I know my daughter is innocent."

Mrs. Anna Frada, mother of Frances Frada, 17, of Watson street, Cambridge, held in the shooting of two Newton policemen, made no secret of her attitude today. "She has sent word to me through my son, Louis, that she did not have anything to do with that shooting."

"I know before she told me that she could not have had anything to do with it."

"It must be all a mistake."

Mrs. Frada, who does not speak any English, talked with reporters through her son, Louis, 18, years old, an interpreter. She was standing with relatives in Cambridge, having left her own home.

"Louis told me that she told him to tell me she is innocent—she was not worried. She sent me her love and said everything will be all right. I know it will. He said she felt badly—but anyone would in that position."

"She was with me on Saturday night until 11:30 when she said she was going out for a little while."

"She did not have any plans."

"Then the mother said that she would help her in any way she could."

Writer Tells Why Europeans Stave Off War

Is Europe headed for war?
Can the spark for another world conflict come from the present Sino-Japanese explosion in East Asia?
In a series of articles from the major capitals of Europe, Seymour Berkson, chief editor of International News Service and former foreign correspondent in Paris and Rome, tells the scenes of official diplomacy to obtain a graphic first-hand picture of the situation. Following is the first of a series of five articles.

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
Copyright, 1937, by International News Service.

London, Aug. 23.—Europe will avoid war for at least five more years.

Although none of the major powers continue to rattle their sabres, they are all cautiously dodging any real showdown that would precipitate another European war.

That is the "usual" opinion not only of British statesmen but also of the most important foreign dispatchers with whom I had an opportunity to discuss the situation.

They are convinced that the Russian civil war which intervened to turn into a European war has become extinct, and that the German revolution, which was the last of the European civil wars, has been crushed.

OBJECT LESSON

Not even such international solidarity as there now is, including the Pan-Balkan and Latin American, Europe out of its resolve to keep the situation from being changed into a re-statement of the tragedy of 1914-18.

At a "laboratory" in which the modern military weapons and strategy were tested on the battlefield by crack German, German and Italian contingents, the European war has been shown to be a costly and a waste of life.

It has explained the myth that modern methods of war make a devastating victory possible within a brief span of time. It has demonstrated that modern weapons, and the modern tactics, are not so much a means to an end as they are a means to a means.

It has shown that the modern war is a war of attrition, and that the modern war is a war of attrition, and that the modern war is a war of attrition.

Shanghai, Aug. 23.—A red traffic light nearly cost me my life today. And it forced me to witness scenes of such unbelievable horror that I'll be haunted by them for the rest of my life.

I was trying like everything to force my taxi driver through the jammed traffic of Cheong road, one of the International Settlement's main arteries, when we were held up at a red light.

At that moment the crimson glow was my only warning-bell. Suddenly there was a tremendous explosion.

1400 CHINESE JEWISH AGENCY RIFT WENT ON PLEISTINE

Zurich, Switzerland, Aug. 23 (JNS)—Jews, both Zionists and non-Zionists, requested refuge because testimony over the Palestine partition issue failed to cause a split in the Jewish Agency Council, but leaders said little more than any concrete results from the compromise resolution adopted.

An delegates departed home, but the consensus was that the suggestion of a federal Arab-Jewish state in an undivided Palestine was not to be made.

It was said that the Jewish Agency Council, which was formed in 1929, had been in the hands of the Jewish Agency Council, but leaders said little more than any concrete results from the compromise resolution adopted.

GLASS N KEY ROLE IN NAZI 4-YEAR PLAN

Berlin (AP)—Glass, a key and victorious ally of Hitler, is the field of metals and other materials and is therefore called upon to play a prominent part in the German four-year plan.

In a general propaganda drive for the increased use of glass it has been repeatedly pointed out that 90 per cent of the glass manufactured in Germany is of domestic origin and may be produced in unrestricted quantities.

Glass for everything is the new slogan. Glass can be produced in any shape, in any degree of hardness, for luxury, everyday use, and for technical purposes, even where metals with high technical qualities are required.

GLASS USES UNLIMITABLE
After first launching a glass building campaign for better garages, manufacturers soon found out that there is practically no limit to the use of glass, especially since the purchase of such materials as copper, tin, and lead caused considerable difficulties owing to the foreign exchange restrictions imposed upon German trade.

Pipelines for beer, for instance, which used to be made of lead, will from now on be made of glass. There is no reason why water-pipes for the general drinking water supply should not be made of glass in the future.

This will be made of glass of course glass with added layers of whitening inside, especially for the construction of burguines, glassing, etc.

"GLASSING" FRUITS NEXT
"Glassing" fruit or vegetables will soon be known as "glazing" fruit, and "glazing" equipment, which used to be fitted with corrugated sheet iron, has been successfully fitted with glass inside.

Glass wool is used for insulating and tightening purposes and has also successfully replaced asbestos in electric batteries.

The German glass industry, comprising 1200 factories and workshops, now employs 75,000 workers and is valued at $700 million, but it is pointed out that in spite of the increase, these factories are being operated with only 70 per cent of their full capacity.

Baby Lost 4 Days Quits Hospital

Berlin (AP)—Twenty-month-old Alice Lorraine Baker, lost four days in the mountains near her parents' temporary home at Arlington, Mass., was released from a hospital here today, apparently into the hands of her mother.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kimball Baker of Hudson Falls, N. Y., was brought here after she was found late Friday. Despite the fact she was clothed only in a sun suit, she withstood the cold nights well and was able to smile when she was found in a thickly wooded area.

4 Children Held In Quincy Burglary

Four children between the ages of 10 and 12 were police said did a thoroughly professional job of burglary on the Atlantic street, Quincy, home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lind, were turned over to the juvenile court probation officer today.

When the Lind family Thursday on a weekend trip the children allegedly enter the home, took $27 from a glass jar hidden in the bureau and embarked on a spree of buying ice cream, candy and going to the movies.

Blonde Girl Stowaway, 23, Puzzles Port Officials

Cathryn Elizabeth Schwartz, of Chicago, who was brought here as a stowaway, faced port officials today following a thrilling experience. She stowed away on a boat out of New York, spent four days in a Glasgow jail and allegedly tried to leap into the Atlantic on the return trip. She came here on the liner California.

She was photographed through a porthole at East Boston.

TRIED TO DIE BY SHIP LEAP

One girl stowaway who "wanted to see the world" was with relatives in Providence today and another who attempted to jump overboard because she was refused admission to England after New York immigration authorities after their arrival in Boston aboard the Anchor Line California.

Still an enigma to port officials here and abroad is the young woman who called herself Cathryn Elizabeth Schwartz, of Chicago, who stowed away on the ship at New York, spent four days in jail at Glasgow and tried to leap into the sea on her return trip.

A pretty blonde of 23, Miss Schwartz was locked up in the immigration hospital with two stowaways on guard in her room and a seaman on the outside.

Apprehended and taken to jail in Glasgow, she told authorities she was the sister of Jim Molloy, famous Irish, and showed an automobile driver's license bearing the name Molloy and a Hollywood address to prove it. No Molloy was found living at the address.

She claimed to have stowed away aboard the Queen Mary shortly before the coronation and to have been returned aboard the Berengaria.

She spent four days in jail in Glasgow for illegal entry, but after her discovery aboard the California on its second day out.

She declared she had stowed away to marry an English sailor who answered a matrimonial advertisement and vowed she "hated" marriage and had no desire to return here.

The other stowaway, Miss Anne Mason, 19, of Jersey City, N. J., had secreted herself on the Anchor Line steamer Transylvania in New York and escaped discovery until the ship was five days out. She ate during the day and snatched time for sleep. Where she slept is a mystery.

She told authorities she wanted to see the world and write about it, and had even started her magazine before being discovered on the Transylvania.

She was released in Boston when she told officials she had relatives in Providence and would go to them.

3 POLAR PLANES TO HUNT FLIERS

Moscow, Aug. 23 (AP)—Three huge polar planes were warned up today for a hazardous search in the Arctic ice fields for the Soviet flier Sigismund Levanevsky and five companions missing 10 days on an over-the-pole flight from Moscow to the United States.

The rescue ships will be commanded by three of Russia's most famous veterans of Arctic flying: Mikhail Vodopiantsev, Vasily Molokoff and Arkadiy Asterliff.

They are waiting favorable weather to take off on the first leg, a flight to Rudolf Island, a far northern Soviet ice station, whence they will fly non-stop across the pole of the world to Alaska.

Vodopiantsev said the three planes would fly from 12 to 15 miles apart, scanning a stretch of about 100 miles of virtually unexplored ice and water within the Arctic Circle.

DEATH VERDICT FEAR OF DYER

Los Angeles, Aug. 23 (AP)—Alfred Dyer, twenty-five-year-old child slayer, started daily at his jailers today, fearful as the hour neared when he will know whether he is to live or die.

"It looks bad," he told them. "It looks bad," he told them. "It looks bad," he told them. "It looks bad," he told them. "It looks bad," he told them.

Dyer's lawyers, meanwhile, and those of the prosecution, prepared to make their final plea. The jury may be charged with his fate before tonight.

Dyer is accused of strangling Melba, said Madeline Everett, former resident of the "Master Mass, and Jeanette Stephens.

The 35-year-old duchess took off from Woburn last March 22 and no trace of her was ever found, despite an intensive aerial search.

The duchess left a total estate of $124,719 (after $17,719,000).

Tasty Meal Of Plaster Pancakes

"Grandma's Own" Put 5 in Hospital

New York, Aug. 23 (AP)—When Mrs. Julia Moskowitz, 66, went to visit her son in Brooklyn and dinner time came, nothing would do but she make some of her famous pancakes.

"You'll love grandma's pancakes," comforted Mrs. Moskowitz's grandson, Murray Jacob, to his pet and guest, Julius Kanel. "They're light as a feather and melt in your mouth."

Grandma got the flour from the boxes and soon a heaping stack of cakes was being devoured by herself and the others—Julius, Murray and the latter's parents.

Then an ambulance came, and took all five to a hospital. Live stomach pumps, and all out of danger.

The victims couldn't understand what the trouble was, until it was recalled that a plumber who had called to repair the soda fountain in the family store had left behind a bag containing a white powder. In some way it got into the girls' box and was mistaken by grandma for flour.

Boston Expert Swimmer Drowns

Chicago, Aug. 23 (AP)—Coast Guard Captain Mark M. Eisenbach, 38, an expert swimmer, drowned today in Burchard park lagoon as he tried to swim to the cutter Chicago after a night of shore leave.

His expertise saved Eisenbach's widow, Margaret, and four-year-old son lived in East Forest street, Chicago, from financial disaster.

WETS SEEK NEW ALIEN BAN

Columbus, O., Aug. 23 (AP)—A resolution criticizing federal immigration policies as responsible for unemployment went before a United Spanish War Veterans committee today.

Colonel William L. Grayson, of Savannah, Georgia, chairman of the resolutions committee, and the committee had received a memorial protesting what it called the "sympathetic attitude" toward aliens by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

The immigration resolution, Colonel Grayson indicated, would blame "failure to administer immigration laws" for a considerable portion of this country's unemployment, and would contend that 4,000,000 aliens added here illegally.

Another resolution received, the chairman said, proposed that the congressional committee on immigration should investigate military training in colleges and universities under the guise of pacifism.

Identify Filipino Slayer on Coast

Los Angeles, Aug. 23 (AP)—A Filipino identified through a photograph was hunted today as the slayer of Carlisle Graham, 26, of Los Angeles, who was shot in the family store here last night.

Franklin, whose identity was established by friends and by papers in his possession, was killed last night in a struggle in front of a West Temple street restaurant.

By GEORGE DURNO

Washington, Aug. 23—President Roosevelt will decide in the next 30 days whether or not he will take the New Deal's case to the country during the congressional recess in a limited number of fully spotted speeches.

His political advisers agreed yesterday it would be a vital decision. If he takes to the road again, it will be appealing to the 27 million voters who re-elected him in November, in direct opposition to the alliance of Democratic senators and congressmen who blocked the bulk of his program in the Senate just ended.

RUSSIAN PRINCE IS JAILED IN RED PURGE

Moscow, Aug. 23 (AP)—Former Prince Boris Golitsine, member of one of the proudest families of Czarist Russia, today was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for stealing state property.

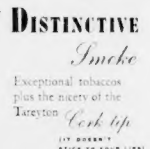

Under the Soviet regime, the ex-prince had been since 1932 the manager of a garage belonging to the Moscow Street Construction Trust. The court found he had bought old automobiles for small amounts, used spare parts in the garage to repair and overhauled them, then sold them and pocketed the profits.

Golitsine's downfall was due to an accident in which one of his rebuilt cars knocked down two Red Army soldiers of a column.

Busy Week for Fashionables; Sports Crowd Spotlight

By BETTY ALDEN

THERE'S NOTHING steady about the famous social whirl. . . It is more like a top in the hands of a small boy. . . one moment spinning swiftly, and the next wobbling lazily about the sidewalk or resting quietly in the youngster's hands as he winds the string around it preparatory to giving it another spin. . .

All last week was one of these winding periods. . . when there was nothing at all doing and society reporters found the job of getting news like seeking the proverbial needle in a haystack. . . or words to that effect. . . But this week, the top is spinning again and the social whirl is off at such a pace that we wonder how people are going to keep all their engagements. . . not to mention ourselves, who try to keep up with everyone's engagements. . .

The first rejuvenated whirlings began over the weekend when Dick Preston and his friends practiced their walking at the Casino in Magnolia and settled the final arrangements for the walking party there tomorrow evening. . . last evening there was an informal supper party at the Magnolia Beach Club, with an "amateur night" program for entertainment. . . Today marks the beginning of one of the biggest and best tennis tournaments ever held at the Longwood Cricket Club when the opening matches of the national doubles get under way. . . and also on today's program is the large annual fashion show and tea at the Casino for the benefit of the Christopher Shop. . .

A few of the highlights of the rest of the week, guaranteed to keep society in a dizzy whirl till Sunday, are the walking party we mentioned above, the Gymkhana at the Albert C. Burrage estate in Ipswich Wednesday afternoon, and the dinner dance which Nancy and Tommy Leiter are giving that evening for some of their fellow sailors and sailorettes along the shore. . . Beatrice Herford's program of monologues at the Essex County Club on Thursday, for the benefit of the Beverly Hospital, is already a sellout. . . and on Saturday sportsmen and women will have to choose between three stellar attractions. . . the North Shore Dog Show, the races of the five J-class sloops at Marblehead and the semifinals or finals of the National Doubles at Longwood. . .

Keith Merrills Entertain at Dinner

DICK PRESTON, who is one of the most enthusiastic of walking fans hereabouts, gave a number of North Shore girls a chance to brush up on their three-four time Friday evening. . . He was a guest at the dinner party which Mr. and Mrs. Keith Merrills gave at Avalon, their Pride's Crossing estate, for their niece, Ruth Ellen Patton. . . After dinner the whole party drove over to the Casino in Magnolia to top off the evening with some dancing. . . Mrs. Merrills presided over the table of attractive young people in a tunic gown of black and white printed silk, splashed here and there with pink roses. . .

Miss Patton, a vision of loveliness with her golden hair worn coronet fashion, wore a swirling gown of silvery chiton with a pleated skirt. . . Her cousin Anne Ayer's gown was also pale gray, striped with French blue satin in a diagonal pattern. . . Mary Coates, another expert walker, who won the prize for the loveliest costume at the lavish Viennese Ball at the Somerset last May, is on from the South for the tennis matches, and also a guest at the Merrills' party. . . she could easily win "best dressed" honors anywhere she appears in the royal blue-tulle gown she wore in Friday evening. . . It has a billowy skirt with deep gores of vivid printed silk and her short cape repeats the brilliant red of the print. . . Jean Gordon, another cousin in the large family circle of Ayers, Merrills, and Pattons, (her mother, Mrs. Conrad Hathaway was Miss Ayer) wore a black and scarlet print which stood out vividly against George Lauriat's white suit as they glided around the dance floor. . .

Ruth Ellen Patton, daughter of Lieutenant Colonel and Mrs. George S. Patton, Jr. of South Hamilton, has been missing from the North Shore for two seasons during which time her father was stationed at Honolulu. . . so a great many parties are being given to welcome her back to the scene of all her childhood summers. . . She is a sister of Mrs. John Knight Waters (Beatrice Patton) who was married in 1934 at one of the most picturesque military weddings ever held on the North Shore. . .

First Morning of Diversion in October

This summer has been a very busy one for Mrs. William Dana Orcutt. . . even when she went over to England with Mr. Orcutt to enjoy the Coronation pageant she had to keep her eyes open for unusual attractions which would be appropriate for her popular series of Mornings of Diversion. . . and now that she is back at Meadowmere, their summer home in West Harwich, where everyone is relaxing and waiting for the warm summer weather to pass, Mrs. Orcutt is as busy as a bee writing and mailing announcements for her series of Mornings which will again be held in the Louis XIV Ballroom of the Hotel Somerset. . .

This year's first Morning will come on October 27, when Wilfrid Walcott will present Life Studies from an English Actor's Sketchbook. . . The next program on November 17 will be an illustrated lecture on the court which is the background of the music of the Wagnerian Operas. . . Mark H. Haight is the lecturer. . . On December 8, Princess Te Ata will give a program of American Indian folk lore. . . There will be three more mornings in 1938, on January 19, on February 9 and March 2. . .

Among the many prominent Boston socialites who re-subscribed for this new series of Mornings are: Mrs. Frank C. Leach, Mrs. Henry G. Lapham, Mrs. Henry B. Sawyer, Mrs. Henry M. Shreve, Mrs. Alexander Steiner, Mrs. Robert H. Stevens, Mrs. Frank H. Stewart, Mrs. Frederick H. Briggs, Mrs. Walter C. Baylies, Louise Condit, Mrs. John J. Cornish, Mrs. Philip P. Chase, Mrs. Lincoln Flete, Mrs. Leonard Fowle, Mrs. Charles L. Fuller, Mrs. Langdon A. Frothingham, and Mrs. M. Grace Haughton. . .

SPORTS INTEREST YOUNG SET

MARY BLAKE and MARGARET BURNETT, more intimately known as "Mimi" and "Mader", were a pair of attractive railbirds at a recent social event in Cohasset where they are spending the summer. Miss Blake is the debutante daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Blake of Belmont, and Miss Burnett, who made her debut two seasons ago, is the daughter of the George Burnetts of Southboro.

Autumn's Brides-Elect To Be Guests at Fetes

Teas, receptions and showers in honor of prominent club members who have joined the ranks of brides-elect will hold the spotlight of social activity the remainder of this month.

A September wedding is planned by Marie Austin McCarthy and William Lawrence Conway, both of East Boston, whose engagement was recently announced by Miss McCarthy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. McCarthy. . . Miss McCarthy is a member of the Star of the Sea Senior Class. Mr. Conway, son of Mrs. Ellen Conway, was graduated from Boston College. . . Another interesting engagement is that of Margaret Mary Lee to John Edward Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy J. Hurley. The announcement was made by Miss Lee's mother, Mrs. John J. Lee, at her summer home, "Roseway," in Westport. . . Miss Lee is active in Boston College affairs. Mr. Hurley is a Boston College graduate and a former legislator. . .

Autumn Bride

November is the month chosen by Miss Weston Edna Sibbey for her wedding to Dean Chamberlain of New York, son of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Chamberlain of Concord. Miss Sibbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Sibbey of Eliot road, Lexington, is a graduate of the Cambridge College of Architecture. Mr. Chamberlain graduated from Phillips Exeter Academy and Harvard. . .

Mr. and Mrs. Harry F. Hall of Merrimack, N. J., have made plans for the wedding of their daughter, Helen, in Kenrick Washington, D. C., on September 21. . .

Chatty Notes of Society

MISS FRANCES IRVING, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Irving, who has been a guest at the Association of Junior League club headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria during her visit in New York, returned yesterday to her home in Northbrook. . .

MISS FLEET ALTON, who will teach an exchange teacher this coming year at the Woodward School for Girls in Quincy, arrived in Boston yesterday aboard the Lincoln. . .

MISS FRANCES GAVIN at Cambridge has been invited to be maid of honor at the wedding on September 21 of Miss J. Boston Cairns and William T. McCulloch of Cambridge. . .

Two-Way Style

By MARIAN MARTIN

All right, you can look as young, slim, and "fashionable" as you wish, but you're always going to be a little bit of a "two-way" style. . .

And what better example of this two-way style than Pattern 9389. . .

So easy to make is this "charmer" that it is a very few minutes' work to make. . .

Pattern 9389 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric. . .

Green or Red? Tomatoes Are DELICIOUS

PERHAPS you will recall that last June we took of National Tomato Week being celebrated in Texas.

Well, New England doesn't crown a Tomato Queen as some states do; but surely the flavor of our own native tomatoes cannot be surpassed.

Virginia may claim the glory of growing the first tomato in America about 150 years ago; but we will take the pleasure of eating these raving tomatoes that are coming from our local sources. . .

When we taste these native low apples coming from the garden surrounding us, we wonder why we bother with the others throughout the year. . .

The answer is simple—we can't resist their beauty for our tables. Tomatoes certainly have come into their own. . .

The vegetable that was once regarded as poisonous is a favorite on tables of rich and poor alike, and respected as a highly nutritious food. . .

Tomatoes walk hand in hand with the citrus fruits through every meal worked out by nutritionists. . . for families of every income level. . .

Green tomatoes have almost as much of the nutrient as do ripe ones. And in all justice to tomatoes, they are not only one of the country, we are forced to those, they are a great asset and ripped off the vine by the commercial styrene treatment. . .

Tomatoes are first served on the table with sugar and cream. Many people like sugar on the tomatoes, and some like cream and sugar. . .

Tomatoes have long been combined with macaroni and cheese in a variety of manners, but we are revealing a new idea. . .

8 large firm tomatoes
1 1/2 cups well-sifted white sugar
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup well-sifted white sugar

8 tablespoons grated American cheese
1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup soft bread crumbs

Scrape out all the pulp and seeds from the tomatoes and sprinkle the insides well with salt. . .

Now, it takes a bit of time to make. I make it a doublet. . .

Realization of declarer's problems after such a reconstruction is the very best aid to correct defense. . .

The defender's aim should be to win a line of play to a line that will make the simple device by which West accomplished such an aim in the deal before. . .

A Woman Loses All Joys Of Life If She Nags Her Husband

Mr. A. doesn't go home to dinner any more.

Sometimes you find him dining alone in a restaurant, and again at a solitary table in his club—anywhere but at the expensive home he built for his family.

The poor man doubtless remembers Solomon's admonition: "Better a dinner of herbs, where love is, than a stalled ox and haired therewith." . .

It's a very nice house that Mr. A. made into late at night, with the fond hope that his wife might be found asleep in his pink bedroom, and not tell him about the grief she had endured since he went to his office at nine. . .

Mr. A. is a highly successful lawyer. He doesn't specialize in divorce, though, after his experience at home, one is surprised to learn that he is not the leading divorce specialist in these United States. . .

HE WAS IN LOVE When he married, less than 20 years ago, he was widely in love with his wife. He was handsome to answer to any man's prayer. . .

Today he is bald, hunched, and has an uneasy way of looking over his shoulder, as if he might be dodging something. He is a still nagger, and knows all the grips. . .

He is dodging his wife's eyes, and knows all the grips. He is dodging his wife's eyes, and knows all the grips. . .

"Your Figure, Madam!"

Rigorous Exercise Makes Stream Lines

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Most of the actresses exercise daily, and all of them rely on some type of activity to keep their figures svelte for the screen. As we go to press, Ida Lupino holds the exercise record. . .

She has been training from the age of seven—and what a figure she has to show for it! Miss Lupino is five feet, three and one-half inches tall, and all stream-lined. . .

How do you keep your waist so slim? I asked her. "Well, it takes a bit of time to make. I make it a doublet. . .

MR. BOSTON Nobility Picks Farr All Like Louis

By JACK CONWAY

EVEN MIKE JACOBS, boss of the Twentieth Century Club, has been unable to find a friendly boxing expert who will go out on the limb and pick Tommy Farr, the Welshman, to win the world's heavyweight championship from Joe Louis at the Yankee Stadium, New York, on Thursday night.

The usual ballyhoo for a heavyweight battle has at least half a dozen prominent persons in the boxing game picking the underdog to win. This is always the signal for other persons, many of whom do not know the difference between a boxing glove and the water bucket, to string along with the so-called better minds. This condition is helpful to the noble ballyhoo as well as to the box office.

The boys who pick the winners have agreed over their beer and crackers that Louis is a cinch to knock out Farr on Thursday night. Perhaps this is one of the reasons why Farr should be given at least an outside chance to win. The same experts were also unanimous in declaring Louis would chill Max Schmeling. Dr. Max made the experts eat their own words when he knocked the "Brown Bomber" out.

At Chicago there was a section of experts who predicted Jimmy Braddock would allow the fight to be decided in when Jimmy knocked Louis down in the first round. Louis then came on to win easily.

Schmeling Bout Now Certain

It is a foregone conclusion that the fight between Max Schmeling and Joe Louis will take place on September 10 at the Madison Square Garden, New York. The fight has been postponed from its original date of August 27 because of the rain which has been so prevalent in the city.

Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight, is expected to be in the city by the end of the week. He is a former world champion and has a record of 12 wins and 1 loss. Joe Louis, the American heavyweight, is a former world champion and has a record of 22 wins and 1 loss.

Collins Talks About Yankees' Power

Bill Collins, manager of the New York Yankees, has been talking about the team's power in the American League. He has said that the Yankees are the only team in the league that has the power to win the pennant. He has also said that the Yankees are the only team in the league that has the power to win the World Series.

SIX BICYCLES
FOR PRIZES

Marshfield, Aug. 23—Some 150 youngsters were clocked with disappointment when the weather man with his torrents of rain forced the postponement of the second annual boys' and girls' bicycle races scheduled to take place here this morning.

The course was ankle deep in water and officials decided that to allow the races to be held would be dangerous to health of the young cyclists. The races will be held Wednesday morning, weather permitting.

HE'S CLEVER AT HI-LI

The HI-LI craze continues in every city and hamlet within a radius of 50 miles of Boston. They are having contests everywhere. Apt boys and girls are moving that ball fast and furiously for the long count. Sammy Fisher of Poplar street, West End, shows his skill.

MUST STUDY RHYTHM TO WIN AT HI-LI

If you've got rhythm you'll win HI-LI. It takes a good sense of rhythm, hence factor is all apart, to play this new game that has been sweeping Boston and has already gained favor in every State in the country. You see HI-LI played every day. Kids and grownups too, have taken up the game and the "popper" of HI-LI is heard all over town. The game is played with a small wooden paddle to which a rubber ball is attached by a strong elastic cord. The ball is hit on the rebound and one how low you can keep it up without a miss. In competition with a group of Boston teachers, the Boston Evening American is sponsoring a series of HI-LI contests to introduce the sport here. A variety of prizes are offered to winners—everything from candy to a bicycle.

Bar Boy Scouts From Court Job

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
Another Supreme Court appointment by the President will be like that fly coming back from Asia with another band. It will attract no attention as we are used to it. Politics is a game of tricks and we don't pay off on place and show. And for the first time the Supreme Court has a frankly administration pet. But we'll break him in on weather forecasts and picture puzzles. The average justice is about 60, reaches full bloom at 65 and retires at 70. We like 'em ripe. There won't be anything to worry about the peace, dignity and national stability of the Supreme Court until a Boy Scout makes it.

We Must Keep Out

THE POSITION of the United States in China becomes acute, now that our own dead and wounded are among the victims of the battle at Shanghai.

The American cruiser Augusta, in Shanghai solely on a peaceful and friendly mission, is hit by an anti-aircraft shell, one of her crew killed, 18 wounded.

That brings our labors to maintain a neutral position to a crisis.

We shall be fortunate if other and worse incidents of this kind do not follow.

Such things as neutrality and safety are fictions in an area one-fourth ablaze, the air filled with bombing planes and bursting shells.

Death takes no holiday in any city or any country where explosives rain down indiscriminately upon those whose errand is merciful as well as upon the combatants.

But, in a large sense, our determination to remain out of China's war is strengthened, not relaxed, by the sight of our own dead.

The picture gives us all the more reason to keep out of a conflict in which thousands of Americans might die uselessly.

It is going to take a lot of calm thinking in Washington to keep us from getting seriously hurt in China. WE MUST PRESERVE OUR NEUTRALITY. UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES SHOULD WE BE STAMPEDED INTO UNWISE ACTION.

We Demand the Facts

PUBLIC opinion is overwhelmed by Governor Hurley in his determination to launder the controversial WPA guidebook and to expose those responsible for the derogatory references to Massachusetts.

To deny that the book is both slanderous and Communist is like trying to prove that night is day.

The malicious references to courts, the biased reports of strikes, the libelous remarks about church and civic leaders, the wise-cracking alurs on working conditions—all these speak for themselves.

But that is exactly what has been done, and the money most of which comes out of wages of working people, is expected to total $34,777,000.

But the people can and should get the facts about the Communists who are being fed and clothed by the government.

None of which was held. Finally $34,777,000 was appropriated to control streams in Ohio and Tennessee, BUT NOT A DOLLAR FOR NEW ENGLAND.

The action is particularly unfair because New Englanders will have to contribute a considerable part of the $34,777,000.

And all we receive is the promise that the Federal Government might give us a few dollars.

In the meantime, we shall just have to trust to luck that our funds will be as few as the New Deal dollars that come our way.

Happy Governor Murphy

THE New Hampshire General Court, one of the world's largest legislative bodies, has adjourned after a record-breaking session of 32 weeks.

The session was distinguished by the passage of social legislation on a scale never before equaled in the Granite State.

Working hours were reduced, workmen's compensation extended, a new teachers' retirement system approved, a fair trade practices bill adopted, and numerous bills designed to improve public health and increase individual incomes.

The Year's Foremost Day

PLANS for the Massachusetts observance of the United States Constitution's 150th birthday should be completed this week.

Because of the early arrangements made by Governor Hurley and his committee, the Sequoyia Parade should be the biggest event of its kind ever seen in New England.

Already every National Guardsman in the Commonwealth has been called to be in the line of march.

Every World War veteran, every patriotic, civic and church organization should also be included.

September 17 is undoubtedly the most significant day of 1937. For on that occasion America will stand out as the ONLY REALLY FREE NATION in a world weighed down by oppression and ravaged by war.

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McIntyre

Walter Chrysler, Jr. has been named one of the discriminating younger generation. Someone has written him as "The Boy Frank Crownshield." His dinner parties at home and in the cafe are models of exquisite execution.

He gives small parties but in proportion. The late Ernest Cerutti, who knew Frank as well as anyone of his day, said that a dinner with more than twelve diners, became unwieldy for everybody, including host, waiters and chefs.

He gives small parties but in proportion. The late Ernest Cerutti, who knew Frank as well as anyone of his day, said that a dinner with more than twelve diners, became unwieldy for everybody, including host, waiters and chefs.

And there was the conclusion of that Frenchman, Count Boni de Castellane, who thought no dinner could be well eaten, with more than ten guests. And even then there should be no conversation.

Regatta: "Around the Corner," by Charles Hanson Towne, in King Alfonso's favorite American poem. Ernest Hemingway, who started a novel, tried to write one chapter a week.

A friend dropping by today has a new medicine. Last night, on a street, he got half way across the floor and let go a full of a bullet.

Nothing as completely awakens me as to be announced by a butler at one of those formal dinners. It has happened twice and each time when I stepped forward I expected to find either a split on the polished floor or a look on an off foot in the waxing mouth of a Polar bear.

Human Side of the News

This may be a man's world but a woman can get on in it if she has her wits about her.

Take Ida. She says that a dinner with more than twelve diners, became unwieldy for everybody, including host, waiters and chefs.

"Is the average crowd the kind of a girl an American mother wants her son to marry?"

Yes, I am a mother. I am asking this question. And John, the average crowd, is asking the same question.
